FEATURING

Romy Nordlinger as Alla Nazimova

SETTING

From Russia to New York City to Hollywood, and the Garden of Allah on Sunset Boulevard, in the mind of Alla Nazimova.

RUNNING TIME

80 minutes with no intermission.

“Garden of Alla: The Alla Nazimova Story” was partially developed at Theaterlab in New York City under the artistic direction of Orietta Crispino in June 2022.

Theaterlab has served as a hub for experimental performing arts in its Midtown, Manhattan home since 2013 and has been creating programming for New York’s innovative artists since 2007. Its signature white box studios offer a clean and well-kept creative canvas for new work that subverts expectations and defies categorization. Theaterlab produces a number of new work programs, focused on cross-disciplinary experimentation, including Hotel New York, a short-term residency for ensemble-driven works; [im]permanence, connecting our theater to our street through live-action painting; Mothers, Myths, Monsters, presenting short works-in-progress; Voices Inside, a writing and theater program for incarcerated writers; Round the Block!, bringing together performance venues and business throughout the Garment District; and Celebrate the Artist, introducing New York audiences to international artists. Theaterlab's mission is to serve the Garment District's diverse population of artists and audiences by producing energetic and experimental art that interrogates the nature of live performance.
NOTE FROM ROMY NORDLINGER

This production is dedicated to Mari Lyn Henry.

A fierce and brilliant advocate of theatre and a dear friend. She inspired this play, and my interest in Alla Nazimova, and has inspired so many to look to the legacy of unsung actresses and all theatre history, to have a keener awareness of our present. What gifts she brought to my life and to so many. BRAVA forever my dearest Mari Lyn. You will be greatly missed.
